

FlexRay Communication Protocol

1st Oguz Kaan Tuna
Hochschule Hamm-Lippstadt
Electronic Engineering
4th Semester
oguz-kaan.tuna@stud.hshl.de

2nd Kristina Bala
Hochschule Hamm-Lippstadt
Electronic Engineering
4th Semester
kristina.bala@stud.hshl.de

Abstract—
Index Terms—

I. FIRST REFERENCES

- [1](Enosh & George, 2014).
- [2](Kopetz, 2001).
- [3](Makowitz & Temple, 2006)
- [4](Shaw & Jackman, 2008)
- [5](Rausch, 2007)
- [6](Xu, Jang, Kim, Chung, & Lee, 2008)

II. INTRODUCTION

III. FLEXRAY

IV. HISTORY OF FLEXRAY

V. CHARACTERISTICS OF FLEXRAY

- A. Applications
- B. FlexRay Advantages
- C. Network Topology

VI. COMMUNICATION ARCHITECTURE

- A. Communication Controller

VII. COMMUNICATION CHANNEL

- A. Static Segment
- B. Dynamic Segment

VIII. DIFFERENCES BETWEEN PROTOCOLS

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

REFERENCES

- Enosh, S. M., & George, N. S. (2014). An efficient implementation of protocol operation control unit of flexray communication controller. In 2014 first international conference on computational systems and communications (iccsc) (pp. 256–259).
- Kopetz, H. (2001). A comparison of ttp/c and flexray. Inst. for Computer Eng., Vienna, 38.
- Makowitz, R., & Temple, C. (2006). Flexray-a communication network for automotive control systems. In 2006 ieee international workshop on factory communication systems (pp. 207–212).
- Rausch, M. (2007). Flexray. Grundlagen, Funktionsweise, Anwendung. Hanser Fachbuch.

- Shaw, R., & Jackman, B. (2008). An introduction to flexray as an industrial network. In 2008 ieee international symposium on industrial electronics (pp. 1849–1854).
- Xu, Y.-N., Jang, I., Kim, Y., Chung, J., & Lee, S.-C. (2008). Implementation of flexray protocol with an automotive application. In 2008 international soc design conference (Vol. 2, pp. II–25).